Snow Melt System

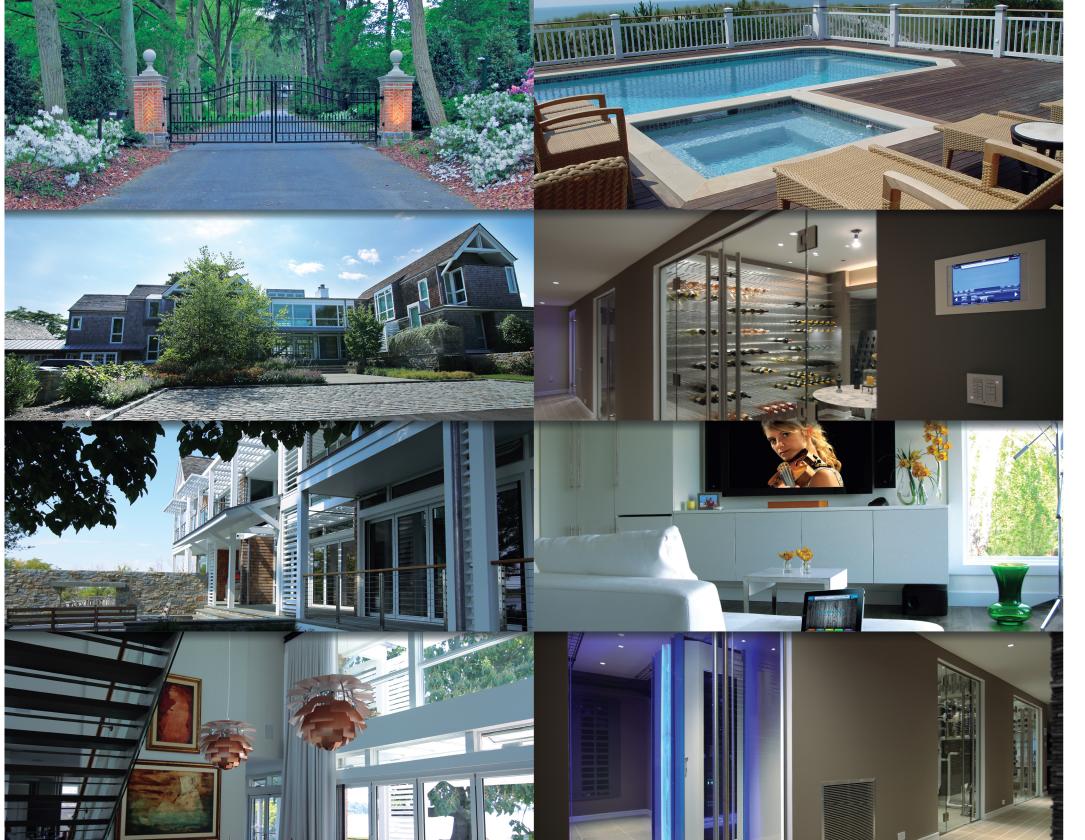

The moment snow or ice is detected, Symbiant turns on your existing system. No more waking up early to shovel out the driveway.

As you approach the gates to your home, the Symbiant experience begins. From complete automation, to control at the touch of a finger, luxury, anticipation and security are yours, when and how you want them.

An important delivery is expected, but you've got better plans. The Symbiant system frees you from the schedules of others. When a package arrives, open a door or garage bay remotely, and once the delivery is left, close it just as easily. Video monitoring ensures the security your home. Never give up your security codes, or your freedom.

Wake up to the sun, but dress in privacy. The Symbiant Estate System means that your outdoor shades know your schedule as well as you do. Privacy, sun protection and energy savings are yours without having to lift a finger.

A Symbiant home detects presence and welcomes all with an atmosphere crafted by you. Automated shades and lighting control are only just a few of the facets needed to create the most compelling, fully customizable home automation system.

Before you get home from work, your pool and hot tub are already preparing for your arrival. The perfect temperature, lighting and music are ready to be enjoyed the moment you walk in the door. And when it's time for guests, your outdoor living space becomes a seamless extension of your home, providing limitless outside entertainment freedom.

You're always in control with the Symbiant Estate Control System. Every room, every space, without exception. Your world is at your fingertips.

The Symbiant owner doesn't watch a movie. The Symbiant owner is immersed in film. High definition viewing is standard, but Symbiant's acoustically balanced sound, designed from the ground up to compliment, not compete with, your decor and your designer provides a superior media experience, second to none.

The future is clean, clear and clutter free. The future is here, in the Symbiant Estate System Control Room. Engineered to be as beautiful as it is effective, our systems are designed to provide you with the most advanced estate automation system in the world. Control your world with Symbiant.
